AHOY!

Dear friends and colleagues all over the world,

We hope this catalogue finds you well and in good health. Indeed, the past few months have been challenging and exhausting for all of us. We had to come up with new ideas and ways of communication. Instead of personal meetings and handshakes in Bologna or Frankfurt, we speak on the phone and see each other via video chats.

But nevertheless, or even for this very reason, the importance of children's literature today is greater than ever. With our brand new programme, we want to provide young readers around the globe with gripping stories, brave characters, and beautifully illustrated books and games.

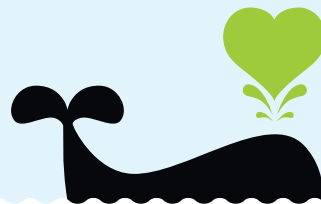

We would like to commend one non-fiction title in particular: Eco Heroes by bestselling author Nadine Schubert offers tips and tricks for everyone – especially for children – to reduce the consumption of plastics in their daily lives. This is a matter of the heart for Magellan since sustainability and environmental friendliness have been core values of our publishing house from the very beginning.

Enjoy browsing and discovering new titles! Please feel free to contact us or our diligent agents for your requests or questions.

We are looking forward to seeing you in person again soon!

Best wishes,

Cara Klein and Viola Ahles

The

colourful world

Something isn't right here – strange creatures and objects keep appearing in the forest and in the sea; in the mountains and in the meadow; in the savannah, in fairytales, and in primeval times; at home, at the farm, and at the construction site; on the streets, on the playground, and at Christmas times. Seahorses don't have four legs, do they? Aren't raccoons' tails supposed to be striped, not spotted? And isn't one of the excavators looking a bit off? It's up to the little observer to find all the mistakes. There's a different puzzle to solve and something to learn about nature and everyday life on every page.

Subjects: sea, forest, farm, mountains, meadow, construction site, safari, dinosaurs, vehicles, Christmas, things at home, fairytales, service vehicles, playground, baby animals, jungle

MY LITTLE ANIMAL FAMILY

These board books each introduce nine animal families that live either on the farm or in the wild: chicken, cow, pig, horse, goat, dog, cat, rabbit, and bat – elephant, giraffe, tiger, hippo, zebra, monkey, crocodile, gazelle, and kangaroo. Each spread focuses on one animal and explains in short what the male, the female, and their offspring are called, what they eat, and where they live.

First factual information broken down comprehensibly for little animal lovers.

Lion, Rabbit, Pig – One Animal Won't Fit!

Lion, rabbit and pig – which animal is the odd one out? It's the lion, of course, for fortunately he doesn't live at the farm. He belongs to the dangerous animals with hippo, python, leopard and elephant. On each spread of this Giant Search Hurry-Scurry book, there's something new to discover: the fastest animals, animals that live underwater, or ones that are especially droll and funny. And one never fits in. The little readers will encounter many surprises when looking for them.

Mozart, the house mouse, and Robinson, the field mouse, are best friends despite all differences – which doesn't mean that they always agree with each other. Like when Robinson insisted that the moon is made of cheese, while Mozart was positive it's made of stone and they built a rocket to prove their respective point. Or when Robinson persuaded Mozart, who wanted to stay inside to read, to go on a true Robinson Crusoe adventure. Or when they fought over food preferences and devised a daring plan to make pancakes that had them going on a foray to the farm ...

Rockets, rafts and pancakes – these friends stumble from one funny adventure to the next in these colourful picture books.

SUDDENLY, THERE WAS A WHIFFET

Poor Ida! Her parents have brought home a whiffet. And this whiffet spits. And roars day and night. In short: the whiffet has made itself a comfortable nest in Ida's home and now everything revolves around this new family member. But then Ida realises that even a whiffet has its uses: it's perfect for pinning the blame on. A mud party in the kitchen? It was the whiffet! Water colours on the walls? Only a whiffet could come up with something like that. It's her parents' own fault for getting a whiffet, isn't it? Or is a whiffet not such a bad thing after all?

A story about overcoming jealousy and coming to terms with the role of being an older sibling.

The Adults Are Bonkers!

Let's be real: adults can be quite strange! They cheer when the children are jumping on the trampoline, but not so much when it's on the sofa. They really like paintings, but only on a piece of paper and not on the wallpaper. And splashing is only funny at the beach and not in the bathroom. No, you really can't please the adults ...

MISS NOSY

NEW

The giraffe Miss Nosy is truly extraordinary nosy! Thanks to her long neck, she manages to poke her nose into everyone's business. And no matter how often the other animals tell her off, she just can't help herself, which doesn't make her any friends. But when little Munchkin disappears, it is Miss Nosy with her long neck and unabashed nosiness that saves the day. The other animals realise that sometimes being nosy does have its merits – and suddenly Miss Nosy has a lot of new friends!

For all Oat Crew fans: this puzzle of 200 pieces depicts another adventure of the four-legged friends training logical thought and creative thinking. The corresponding brand-new story about the ponies and their super funny race is included.

The perfect all around package for horsey gaming and reading fun!

The Oat Crew – that’s the Shetland ponies Choccie and Biscuit, Toni the Haflinger and sometimes Bruno the dog, too (although of course he doesn’t like oats). Together, the friends keep the other four- and two-legged farm inhabitants on their toes! Whether a ghost is fooling around in the stable (only to be caught by the self-proclaimed Top-Ghost-Busting-Ponies), the boss wants to use them for riding lessons (which just isn’t on – being a riding pony is far too boring), a lovely Icelandic pony girl needs saving (causing Choccie to have butterflies in his stomach), a TV production company is looking for their next star (of course every four-legged inhabitant is sure it’s themselves), or Santa Clause needs help with his presents (if he has to go by car, his reindeers must be ill, so naturally he’s in need of substitutes) – the animals’ adventures are a delight!

Pony stories with a twist – Choccie and Biscuit narrate their delightful adventures themselves in this bestselling series.

Who Would Ask a TOMCAT?

Aristotle is a very handsome tomcat in his prime – according to himself. And Anna and her family think that, too. At least that's what Aristotle thought until he finds out that Anna wants a dog for her birthday. A dog?!? Which sensible eight-year-old girl wants a yappy little dog? Aristotle is adamant: that's not going to happen as long as he is the cat of the house! All he needs to do is showing Anna what she's got in him – by running away to prove his point. Too bad that life as a street cat is not really how Aristotle had expected ...

Apparently, the universe has it in for Lizzy. She's the most unpopular girl in her class – and suddenly stuck with a bunch of misfits and her own project for the school festival. The whole thing seems doomed to fail: No one believes in them, not even the team members themselves, and obstacles are constantly thrown their way. Lizzy, however, is not one to give up. Together they could finally make a change! She's also a bit short of domestic bliss: her parents are at each other's throats, her brother is acting even weirder than usual, and her best friend suffers from disastrous lapses of taste. If mediating that weren't enough, there's this new guy in school who throws Lizzy's heart into turmoil. Cue her friends, who have decided to make Lizzy the new students' rep – which is the last thing in the world she wants! Or so she thought until she finds out that this might just be the golden opportunity to get back at a certain teacher who has become Lizzy's personal foe ...

This unconventional protagonist tells her story with black humour and a surprising twist.

The Boy from the Ruins of Berlin

Berlin, 1947. In the ruins of the war-torn city, Paul and his friends make do with what they can find, coming up with adventurous games and scavenging for valuable scraps. Since his father went missing in action, Paul has taken on many responsibilities to help care for his family. Yet, he is happy with the life they have built for themselves. That is, until he finds out that his mother intends to marry the black GI

Bill. Paul, who is certain his father is going to return, refuses to accept this and even some of his friends urge him to take action to prevent the wedding. Paul is determined to break up Bill and his mother – no matter what the cost ... but is that really the best for his family?

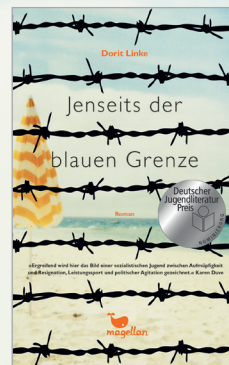

The powerful portrait of a childhood in post-war Germany on the move from fascist ideology to democratic values – as highly topical as ever.

Beyond the Blue Border

Summer of 1989: Hanna and Andreas are trying to escape from the German Democratic Republic by swimming across the Baltic Sea to West Germany. As they are in constant danger of being discovered, they can't talk, so the hours drag on endlessly. Trying to keep her mind from boredom and fatigue, Hanna recalls her childhood and youth under a more and more repressive regime. Yet the imminent dangers of the escape attempt cannot be evaded easily: while Hanna has to watch Andreas getting weaker, a thunderstorm begins to brew ...

Contemporary history
told through a dangerous, daring escape.
