A large-sized and detailed board book about the classic long-running subject vehicles.

Digger, bus, and rail – which one doesn't belong on the road? It's the rail, of course, which needs tracks! In this Giant Search Hurry-Scurry book, there's a lot to discover: vehicles that are the fastest in the world, were built for moving in water or in snow, or rolled down the roads a hundred years ago. And there's always one that doesn't fit in. The little readers will encounter many surprises when looking, finding, and following these onto the next spread!

Creative People:

Author & Illustrator: After studying design, Larisa Lauber had been working for various animation studios where she worked on TV and film productions. She now lives in Berlin illustrating children's books.
