A colourful board book about an exciting journey under the earth playfully imparting first factual knowledge about the animals that live there.

Take a peek under the moss – and now even deeper into the earth: There, badgers, foxes, hamsters, and many other animals live in their burrows and dens. Do you know how a badger builds its home, or what a hamster eats, or why a beaver needs so much wood? No? Then come take a look into the soil and find out. There's a lot going on here!
