A charming story with modern illustrations about coming to terms with and finding one's place in a blended family situation.

Ever since Janis' parents split, Janis has been living in a jungle. His mum's new partner looks like a crocodile, his dad's new girlfriend resembles a tiger, and her sons a wild troop of apes. Everything is different and Janis no longer feels at home with either of his parents. Why can't things go back to the way they were? Or is it all a matter of perspective? After all, a jungle is a pretty adventurous place and there's lots of fun to be had with cheeky apes ...

Creative People:

Author: Uticha Marmon, born in 1979, studied dramaturgy, literary studies and education science in Mainz, Vienna and Munich. After being a dramatic advisor in theatres, she worked as an editor and producer for an audio book publisher for several years. Since 2010 she has been a freelance author and editor with emphasis on children's media. She lives in Hamburg.

Illustrator: Anne-Kathrin Behl, born in 1983, is the daughter of a bookseller and a forester. Therefore, it does not come as a surprise that she studied illustration at the HAW in Hamburg and loves to draw animals. She lives with her family in Celle.
