A highly entertaining story for children starting school with a bubbly protagonist.

Paolina and her best friend Ben just started school together. Hardly there, the friends are broken up again for pet day. While Ben is partnered with Linus and his hamster and starts spending more and more time with them, Paolina has to make do with quiet Frida and her boring turtle. But this new situation has a couple of surprises in store for Paolina ...

Creative People:

Author: Patricia Schröder, born in 1960, lives with her husband and a handfull of animals on Eiderstedt. The founder of the first reader concept Erst ich ein Stück, dann du is a qualified fabric designer, but she loves making up stories even more than inventing patterns for sofas and cuddly toy clothes. So she gave up her old job and has been successfully publishing novels for children and young adults for many years.

Illustrator: Susanne Göhlich was born in 1972 in Jena. She started designing posters and drawing her own stories during her art history studies in Leipzig. Nowadays, she illustrates numerous children's books, draws for magazines, and designs posters. She loves developing new characters the most, so she now also writes and illustrates her own picture books. She lives with her family in Leipzig.
