Magic, myths, and Icelandic horses – the start of an enchanting new series!

In the Land of Fire and Ice, Fenja's summer is off to a rocky start: Her sister and best friend are off on their own adventures, their farm is run over by tourists, and her stern dad just sold her favourite horse. Then, a group of the mysterious Hidden People appears in the region and suddenly strange things are happening and old legends come true. But why did the Midnight Rider try to steal their horse Baldur? To protect him, Fenja has to figure out what's going on, even if she has to go against her father's explicit instructions. Can the Huldufólk girl Elva help her with that? Soon, Fenja finds herself wrapped up in a momentous quest spanning millennia ...

Creative People:

Author: Sabine Giebken, born in 1979 in Munich, swapped ballet for riding lessons at the age of eight and henceforth dreamt of a horse of her own. When she was a child, she already wrote her first stories into her exercise books, which later became her first horse novels. After a degree in business administration and other occupational detours, she decided to turn her hobby into her profession. She lives in Bavaria and has two wild children, an affectionate dog, and a pretty confident Icelandic mare.
