An exceptional and poetic non-fiction picture book about life in the forest over the course of one day and night.

Shortly before the night fades and morning dawns, it's very quiet in the forest clearing. Mist drifts between the tree trunks and dewdrops glitter on silken cobwebs in the first light of day. Soon, the hedgehog will go to sleep, the squirrel will wake up, and a new day full of wonders will begin.

Creative People:

Author: Johanna Prinz has a PhD in biology. She was a monkey researcher at a zoo, the head of the educational department of a large museum of natural history and later on a national park house at the Wadden Sea. Today, she works from her home of choice, Lübeck, in the area of nature communication and is a consultant for museums and an author of children's non-fiction books. Sometimes, she picks up earthworms from the street.

Illustrator: Andrea Jambor, born in 1990, studied informative/science illustration at the Hamburg University of Applied Sciences. Drawing has been her passion from a young age on. What matters to her is to show reality while at the same time imparting information and knowledge in an easy and understandable way. Day and Night in the Forest is her first book.
