A factual yet poetic world tour with a special visual concept, spectacular illustrations, and a world map that helps locating the habitats and the animals that live there.

On our planet, you can find a multitude of different habitats. Some are densely forested, some rugged and rocky, and others lie beneath the ocean surface. In some places, the sun burns from the sky, in others, ice crackles in cold winds. Just as unique as the habitats are the animals that live there.

Come along on an extraordinary journey around the globe to meet them above and below the earth – from the Antarctica all the way up to the Himalaya and deep down to possibly the deepest point in the Indian Ocean ...

Creative People:

Author: Johanna Prinz has a PhD in biology. She was a monkey researcher at a zoo, the head of the educational department of a large museum of natural history and later on a national park house at the Wadden Sea. Today, she works from her home of choice, Lübeck, in the area of nature communication and is a consultant for museums and an author of children's non-fiction books. Sometimes, she picks up earthworms from the street.

Illustrator: Jana Walczyk, born in 1989, studied design and illustration at the University of Applied Sciences Münster, the Accademia di Belle Arti Bologna and the HAW Hamburg, where she graduated with an MA in 2017. Since then, she illustrated numerous children's and non-fiction books.
